Reference solution

For high-energy electrons,

These conditions give the electron's bending radius:

The number of electrons in the storage ring is where is one revolution time. From and the radiation condition, an electron loses a total energy per turn given by (there is no radiation on the straight sections)

Equations give the total power dissipated by the ring electrons:

The power at each outlet is